BIRZEIT UNIVERSITY

Biography:

Eman Maali obtained her MSc in Electromagnetic Sensor Networks from the University of Birmingham (2017), and a BSc in Computer System Engineering from Birzeit University in (2013). She worked as a system and network administrator at Hulul Business Solution (2014) and AXSOS AG (2015). In March 2016, she worked at Jawwal as a testing and quality Assurance Engineer. Currently, Eman is a part time staff member at the department of Electrical and Computer Engineering, Birzeit University. Her research interests are in the field of Plasmonics, TDS near-field imaging, metamaterials, and wireless technologies. Moving away from academia, Eman's personal interests embrace travelling, reading, and karate.