“Communicating Your Research Training Workshop”

Wednesday February 20, 2019

9:00am-11:00 am

In preparation for the 2019 Lancet Palestinian Health Alliance (LPHA) on March 27 and 28, 2019 in Amman, the Institute of Community and Public Health (ICPH) is happy to announce that it will be holding a special training workshop on “Communicating Your Research” focusing on poster presentations, the academic elevator pitch and oral presentations.

The training will be conducted by Dr. Hanna Kienzler from Kings College London. It is an interactive session for those involved in qualitative and quantitative research projects. Participants will gain skills in creating and presenting posters, pitching their research in various academic settings and delivering oral conference presentations. The training will include small exercises and it is recommended that participants bring their LPHA or other conference drafted abstracts along.

To register please use the following link:
